In the evening's speaking contest, Bonham took first place and Frank Young grabbed second, although they were preceded closely for honors by Gill Kyles and Delbert Vaughn, both of Torrance Toastmasters No. 695, the club that sponsored the Midday group.

Manuscripters To Hear Noted Authoress Speak

Odessa Davenport, member of the professional writer's league and the Southern California Women's Press Club, will speak on "Writing the Article" at the next meeting of the Southwest Manuscripters, to be held on June 19 at 8 p.m. in Clark Stadium, on Valley Road in Hermosa Beach, according to Elsie L. Pestoff, secretary of the group.

At present, Mrs. Davenport is serving as a literary consultant, and has been successfully helping a number of clients. One of her clients, Orville J. Harold, has achieved success through the publication of an historical novel about California, called "Flowing Valley."

The club has announced that another competitive contest will be run, this time for the best confession story. Any member in good standing who has not sold one of these type stories can enter the contest. The deadline for entries is July 17, and the winner will be announced on Aug. 21.

An article writing contest is also on the Club's agenda, following the confession contest. Deadline for articles is Aug. 21, and the same rules should be followed as for confession stories.

Further information concerning membership or contest rules can be obtained by calling the club secretary at FTontier 5-3464.

PV College Names Renowned Pianist Music Dept. Head

John A. Howard, president of Palos Verdes College, announced recently the appointment of Gabriel Feneyes, world renowned pianist and conductor as head of the music program at the College.

Acclaimed in Europe before he came to the United States twenty-two years ago, Gabriel Feneyes has had a long and distinguished career as a concert pianist. Born in Hungary, he studied piano and composition at the Royal Academy of Music in Budapest and with the famed Professor Thoman, pupil of Liszt and teacher of Bohm, Liszt and the composer, Bela Bartok. His European career included a tour with Eugene Ormandy and solo appearances in Vienna, Amsterdam, Prague, London and other music centers of the Old World. Mr. Feneyes made his American debut in New York's Town Hall, and in addition to many solo performances, has given concerts in this country and Canada, with Plati-gorsky, the Russian cellist.

Dr. Feneyes has held important positions as a music educator. In 1929 he was engaged to conduct Master Classes at the MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis. In the same year, he joined the staff of the Music Department at Macalester College in St. Paul, and later was appointed Professor of Music and head of the Piano Department. Prior to that time he was President of the Minneapolis College of Music and has held the position of Professor of Piano at Wooster College.

Some years ago, at the invitation of the Salzburg Festival Association he conducted Master Classes at the Salzburg Mozartium Academy of Music. Participating in the Festival at that time were Toscanini, Bruno Walter, Mengelberg and Richard Strauss.

Dr. Feneyes is one of the first artists in the West to under take the presentation of educational broadcast recitals of piano music. These programs have been heard in a series of twenty-seven weekly concerts over the Mutual System on a coast-to-coast network. The Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges engaged him for seven consecutive seasons as a visiting professor. He was heard on college campuses in 22 states.

"We are very enthusiastic about our plans of developing a strong music program," Howard stated. "With our existing Art, Drama, and Dance courses we will now have a completely integrated fine arts program. Our purpose is primarily to serve the needs of our students; those who have professional ambitions in music; and those who are interested in music for the enrichment of their cultural background. We will also aim to serve the surrounding communities by inviting them to participate in our musical activities."
